Hon. Thomas H. Kuchel
U. S. Senate
Washington, D.C.

Dear Senator Kuchel:

From the editorial in the November issue of Nature Magazine I learn that you were one of seven members of the Senate Committee on Public Works to vote against S. 963, the watered-down bill to protect our new Interstate Highway System from needless billboards. I am greatly disappointed that you took this attitude and I hope that when this question comes up at the next session of Congress, you may be willing to reverse your position.

The motorists and taxpayers of the country are digging into their pocketbooks to help create this new system of highways. According to public opinion polls they have no intention of thereby creating values for the outdoor advertising industry. I am sure that you must realize it and I hope that you will act accordingly.

Very sincerely

C. Edward Graves
Western Representative

Ned Graves believes that if Senator Kuchel receives enough letters from his constituents, he might change his mind.

Almost every form of advertising gives something along with its message. Radio and Television give entertainment; magazine and newspaper advertising help pay the expense of production so that you can buy the publication at low cost. Billboard advertising gives nothing. It exploits the highway and destroys the scenery. It is highway clutter on such gargantuan scale that it makes the Litterbug Campaigns a pitiful example of straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel.

The new freeway that will go over the Sierra on Highway 40 route has no protection against billboards. The mountain scenery will be despoiled. The highway from Mojave to Las Vegas, once one of the most magnificent desert drives in the west, has become a billboard eyesore. The beauty of our own Highway 101 is befouled with billboards. Throughout the state, wherever the taxpayers have built fine highways, the billboard companies have been allowed to cash in on the captive audience that uses them. Shall we allow them to deface for their private profit the great new system of Federal highways?

Because they can finance powerful lobbies, billboard interests remain entrenched. The people, without leadership, indignant though they are, find that all they can do is mutter, "Why doesn't somebody do something about it? Why isn't there a law?"

Here's something you can do about it. Write Senator Kuchel. Write your friends throughout the southern part of the state and ask them to write to Senator Kuchel.

BY CAROLYN ELSTOB

Connecticut Yankee, churchman, musician, craftsman, host extraordinary, Father Harold Matthew Malvin Nicholas, assistant to the Rector of Carmel's All Saints' Episcopal Church, has in a bit more than a year become identified as one of Carmel's more colorful and versatile citizens.

Born in Stonington, Connecticut, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Shelby C. Nicholas, educated at Yale University where he majored in music, studying violin under Hugo Kortschak, "Father Nick" had at the time of his graduation no thought of the ministry. After concertizing and playing in the New Haven Symphony, he came to the conclusion that music was more properly his avocation than a career. Turning to business, he was associated for several years with the General Chemical Company in New York City. There, in the shadow of famous Old Trinity Church, standing as a symbol of things eternal in the midst of the transient clamor of the financial district, his thoughts turned for the first time to the possibility of entering the ministry.

But the nervous pre-war days did not seem the right time to make so important a decision. Going overseas with the Army, Warrent Officer Nicholas soon became secretarial aide to Major General Arthur R. Wilson, and interpreter in French and Italian. This tremendously interesting assignment took him through North Africa, Italy and France, where his final stint was as Registrar for American soldiers studying at the University of Paris.

He returned to the States for demobilization early in 1946 but in a month's time returned to Europe with a position in the Trans-World Airlines headquarters in Rome. "It was here, curiously enough, that the call to enter Holy Order in the Anglican Communion became so strong as to be no longer ignored," he said. Returning to New York, early in 1948 he entered the General Theological Seminary, and was subsequently ordained to the Diaconate of the Episcopal Church in June, 1950. Leaving at once for England, his first curacy was at St. Cuthbert's Church, Philbeach Gardens, London. In December of that year, on the Feast of St. Thomas, he was ordained to the priesthood by the Bishop of London in his Cathedral Church of St. Paul.

"Despite the post-war austerity, lack of heat, and shortness of rations, the year spent in London was a glowing experience," Father Nick remembered. Returning to the United States, he became rector of the Parish of St. Mary of the Harbor at the outermost tip of the Atlantic Coast, in Provincetown, Cape Cod, Massachusetts. "During the years spent in this dramatic location, I heard of Carmel, California, as 'the Provincetown of the West Coast', a center for artists, writers and musicians, and it seemed almost fated that I should one day transfer from the

City Council Polite But Dubious Of Ruster Report On Annexation

Mayor John Chitwood termed the Ruster Report "optimistic" in its estimate of costs to operate "Greater Carmel" should the city annex its surrounding unincorporated areas.

The report, officially unveiled at a "briefing meeting" of the Directors of Carmel Unincorporated and the Carmel City Council, Monday afternoon at the High School, had been previously distributed to council members and unincorporated directors for study.

The city councilmen analyzing the Ruster Report, department by department, doubted that city services could be maintained at their present standard in Greater Carmel on the manpower and equipment increase estimated. There is no provision of capital outlay which would be necessary to provide additional housing for fire and police departments. The assumption that Carmel Fire Department would receive a better rating with the fire underwriters and the citizens would enjoy a reduction in insurance rates was challenged by Fire Commissioner Carl Patnude, and Lew Earl McCreery. The additional manpower would not offset additional territory to protect.

It was a friendly discussion, and the councilmen termed the report "a good effort, a starting point, a basis for further study." None was prepared to state whether or not he favored annexation, though several said they thought it was in

Plan Board Wins Long Battle For Landscape Areas

The Carmel City Council indicated clearly at the public hearing last night that it intends to follow the planning commission's recommendations: to enact the two-percent set back amendment to the zoning ordinance and, in the new interim ordinance, to give the planning commission the control it wants over open-space for landscaping. Both ordinances apply to building site use in the business district (Zones C-1 and C-2).

3 Carmel Churches To Hold Services On Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving Day services will be held at Carmel Mission, All Saints' Episcopal Church and the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

The Very Reverend Monsignor Michael D. O'Connell will celebrate Solemn High Mass in the Mission at 9:00 o'clock in the morning.

At All Saints' Episcopal Church Holy Communion will be at 10:30 o'clock in the morning with singing by the Girls' Choir, according to the rector, the Reverend Angus Dun Jr.

Voluntary testimonies of gratitude will be given at The Christian Science Church at 11:00 o'clock on Thanksgiving Day morning with the Lesson-Sermon stressing the expression of gratitude through words as well as in speech.

No Thanksgiving Day services are being held at the Church of the Wayfarer or the Carmel Presbyterian Church.

Property owners in the C-2 district, represented by their attorney Tom Perry, appeared satisfied when the council knocked off five percent of the twenty percent maximum open space requirement, specified by the planning commission in their resolution, which outlined how they would use the landscaping controls if it were given them in the interim ordinance.

The new interim ordinance legally will give the planning commission unlimited open-space control. However, at the council's request, the planning commission met last week and outlined in a resolution what would be their maximum requirements, namely, 20 percent of the site set aside for open space for planting, or preserving existing trees, this in addition to off street parking, walkways, paved areas, and set-back requirements in the two percent ordinance.

After several hours of discussion between audience, council and planning commission members at last night's public hearing, the council instructed the planning commission to call a special meeting Monday at 4:00 o'clock to revise their policy resolution so as to peg their maximum at 15 rather than 20 percent.

The council then held first reading of three ordinances: (No. 1) the two percent set back amendment to the zoning ordinance; (No. 2) the new interim ordinance with the landscape powers clause; (No. 3) the old interim ordinance. This latter was read as insurance in case a last ditch controversy arises over landscape powers in the new interim ordinance. The council will give second reading to

Valley School Annexation Means No Material Increased Cost To Carmel Says Financial Advisor

Carmel Unified School District will "break even" financially if it annexes Carmelo and Tulareitos school districts, financial advisor Bert Heckenlaible told Carmel school board members at their meeting last night.

Annexation of the two Valley districts will mean "no material variation" in operational and building costs and junior college expenses he stated. His firm based this conclusion on the fact that Tulareitos and Carmelo district operational expenses will remain the same as this year, taking into consideration cost of additional high school teachers, if necessary, and allowing a possible resulting expense for operation. The junior college expense to Carmel district will not increase since cost of additional students in this category, added by annexation, would be offset by an increased tax base if the Valley districts are added to Carmel.

Only unknown financial factor was possible need to acquire new school buses and tuition of some pupils wishing to continue attending Monterey schools.

On Monday Francis Whitaker, Gunnar Norberg and Mrs. William Arley Smith, committee from Carmel Taxpayers Association, will meet with School Board Member George Yates, Superintendent Stuart Mitchell and School Board Financial Advisor Bert Heckenlaible and Valley districts' attorney Malcolm Millard to explore the annexation costs. COLOR TELECAST ARMY-NAVY GAME

The Army-Navy game can be seen in a color telecast next Saturday, November 30 at the Carmel offices of M. P. TV, corner Lincoln and Seventh. Everyone is invited. The color showing will include the pre-game parade. Commentators will be sports experts Lindsey Nelson and Red Grange. The color broadcast starts at 9:00 a.m.

Present standing of the Army and Navy series are: Army has won 29 games; Navy winning 23. Last year the contest between the Army-Navy squads ended in a seven to seven deadlock. The color show will come direct from the Municipal Stadium at Philadelphia.

PADRES OPEN CAGE SEASON AT MONTEREY TOMORROW

Changing from football to basketball in two weeks, Carmel High's basketball squads go into their first action of the 57-58 season at Monterey tomorrow night. Three games are on the slate for the cage opener as the junior-varsity clubs kick off the action at 5:00 o'clock, the lightweights take over at 7:00, and the varsities tip-off at 8:30.

With six experienced varsity players back from last year's club, Coach Dan Yurkovich has the nucleus for a solid varsity squad which has good height, speed, and fair shooting ability. Back for another try at varsity ball are Dale Dawson, Bill Hicks, Art Wilkerson, Phil Durbrow, Tim O'Shea, and Andy Gray. Up from the lightweights Frank Wallace, Jim Lee, and Lee Harms. New to basketball but showing plenty of ability in early-season workouts are Fred Nelson and Dennis Peavey. The Padre varsity didn't pick an easy one for the season-opener as the Monterey Toreadors are defending champions of the CCAL A-division and are picked to win the league again this season. Coach Ed Larsh has experienced players at all positions and also boasts a long bench.

Under the astute guidance of Bill Wakefield, Carmel's Recreation Director, a brand new junior-varsity team will represent the Padres in hoop games this season. Casting off for the Padre jayvees will be John and Chris Wilkin, Hal Gregerson, Bruce Reifel, Mike Cook, Tom Green, Terry Dun, Tim Smith, and Mike O'Shea.

Carmel's lightweight squad has a smattering of experienced personnel this season and figures to improve as the freshmen and sophomores pick up game experience. Back for another try at lightweight ball are Pete Willcox, Walt Helm, Ron Hinchcliffe, John Doud, Ron Faia, David Farr, and Russ Wise. Candidates new to basketball are David Hansen, Phil O'Shea, Pat Boyle, Pete DePetra, Toby Edson, Mike Dunham, Larry Dufur, Mike Draper, Bob Little, Pablo Quintero, Scott Forbes, and Pete Osborne.

HARTNELL-MPC GAME TODAY

Football season officially ends on the Monterey Peninsula today when the Hartnell Panthers clash with the MPC Lobos in the traditional Turkey Day natural at the Monterey Peninsula College stadium. Slated for a 12 o'clock starting time, today's 'Big Game' will be finished in plenty of time for everyone to get set for the first slash of the carving knife on the festive bird. With neither team a threat for the junior college football crown, today's game resolves into a duel between two bitter rivals who would rather beat each other than win a trip to the Junior Rose Bowl. Both teams have won three games and lost five during so-so seasons but past records mean nothing when these two rivals get together. Hartnell has taken the measure of Menlo, San Jose, and Hancock JC while the Lobos finished in front of Menlo, American River and East Contra Costa. Biggest win for either team was Hartnell's upset of San Jose Junior College. San Jose was a candidate for the Junior Rose Bowl when Ken Blue's upstarts knocked them out of contention. Today's game looks to be a toss-up with the Lobos banking on the air arm of Jim Brown and the Panthers relying on a hard-running ground attack off their split-T offense.

Dr. Ridenour

Dr. Irving Ridenour died on Sunday morning in his home at Oak Knoll Way and Carpenter Street after a period of ill health. He came to live in Carmel a year and a half ago when he retired from practice as a dental surgeon in Lodi, California.

Dr. Ridenour was born on September 2, 1899, in Stockton where he received his schooling before attending the University of California, graduating in 1922.

He was actively interested in Boy Scouting and received the Silver Beaver medal for his 35 years' work in this field in Lodi. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Lodi Lodge No. 256, F.&A.M. and the Ben Ali Temple of Sacramento.

Survivors are his wife Ruth Belle Ridenour of Carmel; two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Maley and Mrs. Beverly Stron, both of Lodi; two sisters, Mrs. Lloyd Woodhull and Mrs. Andrew Del Monte, both of Carmel; and a brother, Dr. Harris E. Ridenour of San Francisco.

Private services, conducted by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray of the Church of the Wayfarer, were held on Monday afternoon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea followed by interment in El Carmelo Cemetery. Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Friends wishing to make contributions in memory of Dr. Ridenour are asked to do so in the form of donations to the Lodi Memorial Hospital or the Lodi Methodist Church.

Balbina Pereira

Mrs. Balbina Pereira died on Thursday in a local rest home after a long period of failing health. She had been a Carmel resident for 45 years and was a devout member of Carmel Mission Parish. For many years Mrs. Pereira was seen each morning walking from her home at Fifth and Lincoln Streets to attend Mass in the Mission.

Mrs. Pereira was born in Ma-

First Theatre Gives Top Performance Of Streets Of New York

The Streets of New York, melodrama laced with tension and comedy opened at the First Theatre on Monday night with the Gold Coast Troupers giving top entertainment.

There was no star unless one could award stellar honors to the comic of the piece, Badger, as played by Alex Olivetti.

Austere and elegant, Clifford Anderson as the callous banker, robber of the widows and the weak was a standout and, as his vain and shallow daughter Alida, Miss Frances Jourdan won well merited hisses and applause.

Real tear-jerkers were Patsy Ramsey, beautiful and heartbreaking as Lucy and Madeline Hicks, personifying love and sacrifice as The Mother. Stephen Dirk as Paul, noble young son and brother, completed the Fairweather trio, family of wealth brought to destitution by the purloining banker. Mr. Dirk's performance was excellent.

There was the young man about town, in love with Lucy but needing (very badly indeed) Alida's millions, Nicholas Asseley, duped by the banker, ruined in the stock market, was every inch the hero of the piece.

And for pure comedy, there was the Puffy family. Good kindly Mr. Puffy, purveyor of roasted chestnuts, played with realism by William Osgood, and Dan the "fit for nothin' nit-wit son," portrayed by talented Vincent Randazzo, were good-naturedly buffeted about by the beaming loquacious flaming haired Mrs. Puffy, enacted by Carolyn Elstob whose vivacious romping induced gaiety both sides of the footlights.

An actor of fine ability, killed off in Act I, was Charles Scardinia as Captain Fairweather. His Lincoln-esque make-up, frantic, losing battle against the wicked, and final gurgling death throes, were delightfully convincing. The inevitable butler (Larry Pack) and

She is survived by her son Manuel Pereira of Carmel.

Holy Rosary was recited on Monday evening in the Paul Funeral Chapel. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning in the funeral chapel before Requiem Mass was celebrated at Carmel Mission. Burial took place in the Roman Catholic section of Mission Memorial Park.

Dr. Klemme

Dr. Roland M. Klemme, nationally known brain surgeon, died on November 21 in a Salinas hospital after a short illness. He had lived at Santa Lucia and Casanova Streets for the past three years.

Dr. Klemme was born on May 17, 1896, in Belleville, Illinois, and received his medical degree in 1921 from Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri. After interning at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis he became a fellow in neurosurgery at Washington University in 1924. He was assistant resident surgeon at the hospital as well as instructor in clinical surgery at the University from 1927-41 before receiving the rank of professor in 1942. He entered private neurosurgical practice in St. Louis in 1934.

He was a co-founder of the Harvey Cushing Society, a member of the American Medical Association, the International College of Surgeons and many other medical societies and associations, both in the United States and abroad.

Survivors are his wife, Virginia K. Klemme of Carmel, and two brothers and two sisters in Belleville.

Private funeral services were held on the afternoon of his death in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium in Pacific Grove.

Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

WELL BABY CLINIC DATE CHANGED TO DECEMBER 12

The Carmel Well-Baby Conference (Clinic), held regularly the first Thursday of each month at the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel, is scheduled for Thursday morning, December 12, at 9:00 o'clock.

Carmel area mothers with preschool children not under regular medical care are invited to attend the conference. It is conducted by a pediatrician who gives individual counseling to each mother and baby. Public health nurses and a psychiatric social worker are also in attendance, and volunteers from the Carmel PTA provide baby-sitting.

The Carmel area includes Carmel Valley, Highlands, and Big Sur as well as Carmel and its unincorporated sections.

Appointments can be made by telephoning FRontier 2-4583.

Father Nicholas Versatile Citizen

one to the other."

Early in 1956, Fr. Nicholas was married to Mrs. Dorothy W. Lord of New York City after a long acquaintance. Mrs. Lord had for several years been a visitor-resident of Carmel, and had already purchased a house here. By the happiest coincidence, a Priest Assistant was needed at All Saints', Carmel, and what the Nicholases feel is "the perfect house" was already awaiting them.

So in the early winter they left cold and barren New England to live permanently in sunny California. "The perfect house" is really not an understatement! Located at Monte Verde and Fourteenth Street, it is straight out of an old picture book. In the style of an Austrian Tyrol farmhouse, it was built by Ernest Matray, a copy of the house in which he was born. Its steeply pointed roof, striped shutters and gay flowered scrolls over the windows, and pastel coloring, present a charming picture. Once you step over the wide doorsill to be welcomed by Father Nick's expansive hospitality and "Mrs. Nick's" gracious charm, you find yourself in a gallery drawing room of exquisite taste and luxurious comfort. The cone above the great central fireplace rises to double-floor height; flowers, books and sunlight seem to be everywhere. It is the perfect room for music. Through the huge window one catches a glimpse beyond the patio of a veritable Hansel and Gretel house. It is the studio and guest quarters built in miniature of the main house. This quiet home (La Vie en Rose, it has been appropriately named), opens its arms to guest and visitor, warmth and welcome are everywhere, and once inside you find it is an oasis where the "lost art" of conversation as well as "live" music still hold sway.

No account of this fairy tale house would be complete without mention of the two elegant French poodles who reside there. Brillo, silver gray, sported a violet bow on her top knot, and Mopsie was the last gasp in elegance, lifting her curly haired chin above a royal purple collar glittering with brilliants.

Fr. Nicholas divides his time between the church and music. He is a first violinist in the Monterey County Symphony and a member of the Symphony board. He has organized a series of Ecclesiastic Chamber Music Recitals at All Saints'. The first program for organ, harp and violin was held recently, and another Music for a Quiet Hour recital will take place on Sunday afternoon, 4:00 o'clock. Participating in this concert will be the church's organist, Robert M. Forbes, assisted by Marie Sales, violinist; Fritz Barkan, 'cellist; Eiko Yoshizato, Charlotte Perry and David Hagemeyer, violinists, and Mrs. Jean Canada, contralto. Mrs. Canada is a newcomer to Carmel, whose husband is on duty at Fort Ord. She was widely known on the concert stage of her native Germany, and the peninsula is, exceedingly fortunate to have an artist of her stature residing here.

Rehearsals are now underway at All Saints' for a Christmas Pageant portraying the miracle of the chimes, the script of which has been adapted by Fr. Nicholas. He has also organized and is training the Blue Choir, a group of teenage girls, all members of All Saints' Parish. Truly he is a man of wide interests, tireless energy and friendly enthusiasm, formerly a New Englander, but now proudly and happily—a Carmelite!

IRENE DALIS IN MET AIDA BROADCAST SAT.

Irene Dalis, young mezzo-soprano from San Jose, will make her Metropolitan debut as Amneris in Aida Saturday. Aida opens this season's Saturday opera broadcasts over the ABC radio network. (11 a.m. P.S.T.). Dalis was married to George Loinaz at Carmel Mission July 16.

City Council Polite But Dubious Of Ruster Report On Annexation

Captain Archer Allen, chairman of Carmel Unincorporated, made clear in his opening speech that he did not expect any commitments from the council.

Introducing the Ruster report, Captain Allen said it indicated that financial advantage would accrue to the city; that with the broader tax base provided there would be a 13 cent per hundred tax cut for the Carmel tax payers. The increase in taxes for the unincorporated area, which would amount to 86 cents, "would be compensated in part by a 30 percent reduction in insurance rates," he said.

He outlined the legal steps for annexation. First a petition, signed by 50 voters of the areas wishing annexation, is presented to the city council, asking if Carmel would consider annexation. If the council responds favorably, a second petition, which must have the signatures of one-fourth of the registered voters of the outside area is presented. The council then calls an election in the outside area (for which the city pays). If the election is successful, the council may annex the outlying districts to the city for passage of an ordinance or may call an election. (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves,
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

CAN WE SAVE OUR RIVERS?

At the recent meeting of the California Conservation Council in Berkeley, which I attended, the theme of the addresses was "Invitation to Cooperate — for Water". The speakers covered nearly every phase of the water problem in California except that of its value for wilderness. Since the Sierra Club, of which I have been a member for many years, and the National Parks Association, of which I am an employee, are primarily interested in wilderness conservation, I was a bit disappointed.

Rather than comment on the other phases of water conservation I shall devote this column to the question that was neglected or overlooked at the conference. As my text I shall take the reply that Harvey O. Banks, Director of the State Department of Water Resources, made to a written question that I handed in during the question and answer period.

Mr. Banks had been discussing the California Water Plan and the "Areas of Agreement and Achievement Required". My question to him read: "I have heard that the completed California Water Plan includes a series of dams and reservoirs on the Klamath, Trinity and Eel Rivers that will be continuous, with no free-flowing water between. Is that true?"

His reply was: "Yes, it is true". He went on to say that it was unavoidable that salmon and steel-head fishing should be sacrificed by the Plan but that it was hoped that they could be provided in some of the smaller California streams. Now, although I sympathize with the fishermen in this predicament, yet my concern was the loss of wilderness scenery in these three great rivers. Having lived in that part of the state for 21 years, I know the tremendous value of that scenery, both as an inspiration to travelers along the river valleys and as a source of income to business men associated with the tourist trade. A series of reservoirs with their ugly draw-down muddy edges will be no kind of a substitute for the present beauty of these river valleys.

I could talk at great length about the significance of these wilderness values, which I consider essential to the ultimate survival of our civilization, but in my remaining space I should like to quote a speech that Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton made before the American Forestry Association a short time ago. The facts that he presented are altogether too frequently lost sight of in discussions about California's need for water and power.

In speaking about saline water conversion he said: "Given continued progress in research, the cost of converted water should tend to become competitive with that from other sources in 15 years, and perhaps even sooner". The last three words should be doubly underlined. Considered in relation to the permanent destruction of California's three most scenic rivers, a waiting period of 12 to 15 years for the ocean's bounty to be made available to thirsty southern Californians is as nothing.

Secretary Seaton also said, in speaking about power: "Provided present trends in research, technology, and comparative costs continue, the Atomic Energy Commission estimates that in most parts of the country nuclear power will be competitive in cost with conventional steam power within 20 years".

It will take much longer than that to construct the dams and reservoirs that Mr. Banks envisioned. Most of them will be obsolete before they are finished. Will Californians wake up to the peril involved before it is too late?

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

Aside from the turkey and cranberry sauce, the Thanksgiving season is one in which we would do well to think from a spiritual standpoint and perhaps to begin to work toward that greatest of all our religious festivals, Christmas. For this reason, we shall talk about the newer religious books in the library, some of which have been on our shelves for a few weeks, and some of which have not yet arrived from our book dealer.

The subtitle of The Quiet of the Land by D. W. Lambert really tells the subject matter of the book. It is, Some Quaker Saints Challenge Us Today. This is a devotional book, telling the story of religious fervor through the lives of certain notable persons of the Quaker faith. It is a small book, but a worthwhile one.

The Pope Speaks was compiled and edited with the assistance of the Vatican Archives. Here the reader is aided by both an index and a comprehensive table of contents in locating the teachings of Pius XII on many subjects. The articles are grouped under four main headings. They are (1) Man, (2) Education, The Sciences, The Arts, (3) Church and Religion, and (4) Society and Politics. The book is illustrated with many photographs and bears the Imprimatur.

Another book which is perhaps of greatest interest to members of the Catholic faith is Silence in Heaven. The text written by Thomas Merton speaks of man's silent communion with God, and of the daily life of a monk in a contemplative order. The pictures comprise the greater part of the book and they are movingly beautiful photographs of prayer and the monastic life.

Dr. Lowell Ditzen is a Presbyterian minister who has several books to his credit. His latest is called You Are Never Alone. He believes that solitude is truly a creative force for those who can turn it to their advantage, if they are not afraid. It is in solitude that we can discover new great thoughts within our own consciousness.

Samuel Coles is a negro missionary who went to Africa to bring God to his own race, and found that God was already there. His life story is one of work, sweat, and progress. He is described as a man of gentle steadfast spirit. His new book is entitled Preacher With a Plow.

Once again we should mention Dr. Marcus Bach's book, Circle of Faith, in which he describes the great faith of certain famous people of today who have accomplished much through an active faith in God, or should we say that God has accomplished much through their active faith.

David Wesley Soper wrote You

The Monterey Peninsula and National Audubon Societies are presenting Muri Deusing, curator of education at the Milwaukee Public Museum, with his all color film Adventure in Africa at Sunset Auditorium on Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

This film is the result of a 10,000 mile safari in the "Zoo-land" of the world. All the big animals as well as myriads of birds and smaller animals, making their annual trek across the great Serengeti Plain, are seen in the picture.

Mr. Deusing was born and reared in a photographer's studio. It is evident that his interest has continued. Footage from his camera has appeared in four Oscar-winning Walt Disney films including Beaver Valley and Vanishing Prairie.

A dinner for the lecturer will be held at Holiday Inn, Carmel, at 6:00 o'clock preceding the program. Those planning to attend may call MA 4-6433 for reservations.

Have Met Christ, and this small book has just been readied for circulation in our library. In it the author shows that Christ is a contemporary presence, a living impact upon the lives of those who know Him today.

Another book of importance which is as yet unreceived from our book dealer is The Healing Power of Faith by Will Ousler.

Also on order is Prehistoric Religion by E. O. James. From archeological data, the author has deduced a great deal about the religious beliefs of our prehistoric ancestors. This is important in showing the development of the worship faculty in man.

There are more religious books on order, and after Thanksgiving we will put up our usual display of religious reading for the Christmas season. Be thankful every day.

Music On The Peninsula

By MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The season's second concert of the Carmel Music Society presented Les Ballets Janine Charrat de France in a program of highly developed terpsichorean art with choreography that required no written story so clearly did the miming and suggestive actions convey the meanings. Such, however, can be done without great dancing, though when coupled to outstanding technique and subtlety of movement by highly evolved artists the result becomes a challenge to spiritual perception. In the natural grace and piquancy of the French one looked for refined stimulation and found it when the curtain parted for Domino to Brahms' music in which five white and five black figures play a game of dominos in charming classic formation. It completely captured the sold-out house. Particularly ingratiating were Helene Traline and the two couples, Josette Clavier, Juan Guilano and Yann Borall.

In the two movements of the Grieg Concerto, nothing could have been lovelier or more agile than the statuesque poses and romantic movements of Janine Charrat with Juan Guilano in their passionately joyous and sometimes antagonistic progress of romance based upon the poetry of Grieg's well known work. The pirouettes and extended limbs were a revelation of unhindered freedom. One remembers Isadora Duncan's dancing of the Beethoven Seventh Symphony, but her technique was quite removed from that of ballet, and she would not have achieved the lightness and grace or emotion of the French interpreters for her Greek lines aimed at an art which ballet slippers never attempt. At two pianos the pianists, Jacqueline Emery and Francois Jaroschy, gave spirited performance of the solo and orchestral accompaniment of the Concerto as they did for each presentation.

The Arlequin of Josette Clavier, Leon de Pian, Paul Maure and group, to music by Daniel Stirn, was light and gay in buffoonery and a good example of the miming which is a modern trend in ballet dancing. A Pas Classique to music by Auber brought out a charming duo in Helene Traline and Juan Guilano, followed by The Dying Swan to Saint Saens' immortal music, a solo of sympathetic pathos by Janine Charrat that brought back remembrance of Pavlova who made it so famous. Charrat did not lose by the momentary comparison since her art stands supreme in France today.

The Dictators Downfall with its hard and dissonant music by George Delerue carried a prophetic note in its theme and group movement by the Corps de Ballet, which completed the performance of these French dancers, some of whom are not native born but have received acclaim in European Festivals, particularly in London. Janine Charrat's fantastic career and leadership is clearly the result of her talent, making her today the pet of Paris and a star creator of choreography, and only by consent of the French Government was she able to bring her troupe to America. They were bound for Sacramento and Los Angeles on a chartered bus on leaving Carmel at midnight.

The Diamond Chorus of Fort Ord under their Director Williams gave an intimate concert Sunday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Banfield in the Highlands presented by Nancy Ness Bowman. No written program, but some stirring numbers were sung in the volume and modulation for which the group is well known.

THE DAY AFTER THANKSGIVING IS NOT A MOMENT TOO SOON TO PLAN FOR THE CHRISTMAS AHEAD

Carmel offers unique advantages to Christmas shoppers. The original not found elsewhere; jewelry, designed and crafted by gifted Carmel artisans; pottery, ceramics, wooden and metalware created by local artists of wide reputation. Here you can have a portrait painted, commission a water color or an oil, order a bracelet, cuff links, a ring to order—individual presents which will grow in value with the years.

If imports are on your gift list, Carmel shops will provide you with the rarest woolens, the finest cashmeres, with authentic tartans and heathery tweeds from celebrated looms. If you buy by label Ocean Avenue shops bring to your doorstep the brand names in apparel, leather goods, personal treasures, that you'd find on Fifth Avenue, Bond Street or in Beverly Hills.

Beyond all this Carmel offers holiday bounty of its own: table delicacies, home-baked from special recipes; gourmet shop fare; the wealth of plump, fresh produce, poultry and fruits which abound here.

THIS YEAR—do Shop in Carmel. The time you save, the mileage you conserve (personal, and in plane, train and cab fare, and in gas, oil and tires) can be put to better use making merry during the joyous season just ahead.

Results by classes: Number of Seniors qualifying, 23, 27%; Juniors qualifying, 43, 35%; Sophomores qualifying, 57, 43%; Freshmen qualifying, 32, 30%. Total students qualifying, 155, 34%. Total students in school 450.

Planning Board Wants To Study Carmel Knolls Plan

The Carmel planning commission, after looking at Monterey Peninsula Associates' Carmel Knolls subdivision plan, last week, decided to ask the county planning commission to postpone approval until December 17 so that the Carmel commission could study fully the "cul-de-sac" development at the mouth of the valley which includes provision for a service station, motel and restaurant.

Carmel commission members thought Carmel Knolls would change the character of the Lower Valley and they want the opinion of Carmel Valley Property Owners' Association. This subdivision starts east of the Valley road immediately in front of the old Hutton home and extends on the north up the canyon opposite South Carmel Hills till it meets Rancho Rio Vista subdivision. The proposed freeway would divide Carmel Knolls from Carmel Hills.

Carmel Chest Drive Is Now 94 Percent; More Is Expected

Chest officials announced today that Carmel had reached 94 percent of its goal of $29,000 for 1957. Of this amount, Clifford Cook, General Chairman of Carmel area stated $20,455.00 was from the residential area which represents 92.5 of the residential area quota and $5,563.00 was from the business section, representing 90 percent of the business area quota.

All workers who have not yet turned in their envelopes are urged to do so this week and to get in touch with Mrs. Stafford Hughes or Mr. Lew McCreery or the Peninsula Chest headquarters at 486 Pierce St. in Monterey.

Campaign collections for the Peninsula now total more than $93,000.00 and there are still a great many workers to report. The figure is now greater than the contributions for 1956 and represents 81% of the $116,000.00 quota, the highest goal ever attempted here on the Peninsula.

O'Malleys In Curacao

A postcard from Bill O'Malley says that he and his wife Ada are in Curacao's capital Willemstad living a dangerous life on the Dutch island topping South America.

"This city is divided in two by St. Anna Bay which looks like a canal (about the width of three Dolores Streets). A floating causeway connects the two sections of the town and opens by simply floating to one side to let through an average of about 25 ships a day. Sidewalks are about a yard wide and the streets are not much wider than a Cadillac. You dare not step off the curbs as the drivers here make the Paris motorists seem like a convention of Cub Scouts on tricycles. Pedestrians are a tenth of a guildler a dozen. Luckily all streets are one way so you can only get hit once to a crossing. The rate of exchange is 1.86 guilders to the dollar."

Ruth St. Denis Talk December 6

An evening with Ruth St. Denis will be presented in Carmel at 8:30 o'clock on December 6. Miss St. Denis will appear at The Studio on Dolores Street to give an intimate lecture on life, philosophy, religion, and dance. For over two generations she has been a foremost leader in the field of modern dance throughout the world and will bring to Carmel audiences the vitality and inspiration which have been her life force.

In addition to her lecture, Miss St. Denis will herself demonstrate the famous St. Denis gestures, and be aided by Barbara Andres, one of her pupils.

Reservations may be made at The Studio, or by phoning MA 4-1661 daily 1:00 to 5:00.

Studios Of Music Recital

A group of students enrolled in the Carmel Studios of Music performed on November 17, in recital at Shantullah, the home of Mrs. Franciscus Kanevsky of Carmel and Catoumet, Cape Cod, Massachusetts. Flute, violin, and piano compositions were heard by students of Mrs. Eiko Yoshizato, Mrs. Roberta McConnell, Mr. Les Rhinehart and Mr. Gilbert Boyer, director of the Studio. Patti King of Salinas played a Clementi Sonata in three movements; Katy Fry of Carmel, the Debussy Prelude Danseuses de Delphes, and Carol Crumpley of Monterey, the Schumann concert piece Papillons. Linda Paplow of Carmel played the Allegro of Fiocco accompanied by Katy Fry, and Midge Young of Monterey La Folia Variations by Corelli, accompanied by her mother.

Two flute pupils of Mr. Rhinehart contributed numbers of unusual interest to the program. Vicky Aslanian, with her father Mr. Vahe Aslanian of the Music Department of Hartnell College, played two movements from a Bach Sonata for piano and flute, and Joe Rodrigues of Pacific Grove and his instructor Mr. Rhinehart played an original composition for two flutes by Mozart, unaccompanied. Also playing on the program were Joey Johnson and Nancy Roberts of Carmel, Jean Adams of Marina, and Jerry Winters of Salinas. After the recital, refreshments were served to the students, parents and guests by Mrs. Kanevsky.

Children's Art At Craft Studio

An exhibition of abstract paintings by two young English child artists, Ruth and Sally Willis, now residents of Carmel is open daily in the Carmel School of Art which is directed by Louise Cardeiro Boyer.

The studio is in the Carmel Craft Studio Building on San Carlos at Ocean.

The exhibition will continue through November and the public is invited.

Xmas Program At Woman's Club

Well-loved stories of the Christmas season interpreted by Miss Beatrice Crall together with harp music by Miss Muriel Donnellan will be the program for the general meeting of the Woman's Club Monday afternoon.

Miss Crall is a mono-dramatic actress and narrator who brings to life the characters drawn by the world's great writers.

Miss Donnellan is a concert, recording and TV artist who occupies the chair of first harpist with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra and has appeared with many leading symphony, radio and recording orchestras both in this country and abroad.

During the tea hour following the program Mrs. Fenton Grigsby and Mrs. Thornton Allen will pour. Mrs. Samuel B. Moore will be in charge of the refreshments and will be assisted by Miss Ethel O'Connor, Mrs. Ralph Skene, Mrs. B. J. Simmons, Mrs. David B. Shipley, Mrs. F. B. Seville, and Mrs. E. M. Seifert. Tea table decorations will be arranged by Mrs. William Eklund.

Steaks For The Champions

"If you win the championship I will give you a steak dinner," said Coach Buzz Rainer to the group of boys who turned out for the junior varsity team at Carmel High School in September. The boys won the championship and on Saturday night they collected the steaks from Coach Rainer and their parents at a picnic on Carmel Meadows beach. The lightweight team was invited to share the feast with the JV's as well as Paul Morlang and Bob Shirley of the coaching staff. Police Chief Clyde Klaumann was chef and barbecued to perfection 55 steaks.

Waterfowl Field Trip

Members of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society who plan to visit the waterfowl refuge at Los Banos on Sunday are asked to meet at Tiny's Restaurant on Highway 152 prepared to leave the rendezvous by 10:00 o'clock in the morning. There will be no regular meeting of the Society in December.

Circle Three At Carmadon

Mrs. Grace Howden entertained 30 members and guests of Circle Three of the Church of the Wayfarer on November 9 at Carmadon. The Thanksgiving theme was carried out in the decorations of the buffet table with artistic arrangements of fall flowers and baskets of fruit. Mrs. Clarence C. Robinson poured. Mrs. Fred L. Farley gave the devotions and Mrs. M. E. Affonin read a paper on the Dead Sea Scrolls. Miss Mary Lindsay-Oliver played The Lord is my Shepherd. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Aimee Charlton, Mrs. William Askew and Mrs. Orley Holm.

Adrian Beach In Portugal

A postcard from Afife tells the Pine Cone that former Carmel artist Adrian Beach is "living a Jean Francisque Millet life on the coast of Portugal, admiring the superb athletic types washing on stones and toiling by the sea with oxen. The great beach and rocky hills are a heaven like your coast. I've been up the Douro for the vintage making pictures for a show in London in the spring."

Ricketts' Joys And Disasters

Pat and Mike Ricketts, students at Fresno State, will spend Thanksgiving at Squaw Valley on a skiing expedition with fellow students. Pat as a spectator, in a cast and on crutches. On October 26 she acquired a triple spiral break from knee to ankle in a ski spill, her second crackup. She broke her foot skiing last year.

Mike achieved the wish of his heart last week end. A member of the Fresno State football team, he flew to Hawaii to play the islanders.

Pat and Mike are daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ricketts. Carmelites since birth, they were processed through Sunset and Carmel High School where Pat distinguished herself in leadership and Mike in athletics.

Around Thanksgiving Tables

As the sun comes over Jack's Peak Thanksgiving morning, well stuffed turkeys will be put in ovens by Carmel housewives planning Thanksgiving dinner in the warm, sunny hours of the early afternoon and families leaving Carmel to eat Thanksgiving dinner in other towns will be waking sleepy children, feeding them breakfast and packing freshly ironed clothes to be worn later at America's harvest feast.

By the time the sun is topping the pines the aroma of the cooking turkeys will be tantalizingly spreading through the homes of the early diners, while those families planning to eat in the evening will be readying their turkeys for the oven. The families leaving Carmel will be driving past harvested fields and fields full of growing year-round California bounty.

When the sun is beginning to move towards the sparkling ocean the first Thanksgiving diners will be seated about their laden tables or, perhaps, having a picnic Thanksgiving dinner on the beach or beside the wind twisted cypresses on the rocks of Point Lobos. The travellers will have arrived at their destination.

Then when the setting sun makes the horizon a glow of color the late Thanksgiving diners will be dressing for their parties, the early eaters will be resting, and those away from Carmel will be preparing for the long drive home with sleepy children in happily crumpled and spilled-on clothes.

After the sun has gone and darkness comes, all the Thanksgiving dinners will be over. Carmel diners will have the dishes washed and turkey carcasses put away and the travellers will be nearing home under twinkling stars, a sliver of new moon, and sputnik.

This is an account of where some Carmelites will be when they celebrate the Thanksgiving holiday first observed by the Pilgrims.

Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Kocher are driving to Saratoga for Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Dr. Kocher's nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. George Kocher. Dr. Kocher's two sisters and two brothers will also be members of the party as well as one of his granddaughters and two nieces. The girls are all students at Stanford.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fehring and their five daughters are eating Thanksgiving dinner in Los Altos with Mrs. Fehring's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Fuller. Included in the party of 20 around the table will be Mr. Fehring's brother, W. P. (Dutch) Fehring, assistant Stanford football coach, and his family from Menlo Park, and Stanford student, Kenny Fehring son of Raymond Fehring of Altadena, Ted's other brother.

The Herbert Blanks family are leaving today for Clarksburg near Sacramento and will return to Carmel on Saturday night after eating their turkey with Mrs. Blanks' mother, Mrs. George Holmes.

Thanksgiving weekend is being spent in Belmont by Mr. and Mrs.

Maynard Petersen and their four children, Pam, Susie, Maynard Jr. and Tim. They will be guests of Mrs. Petersen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milo J. North.

Round the Thanksgiving dinner table at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Arley Smith will be Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. McClellan and her sister, Hazel McClellan and the Smith children, Sandra, Craig and Susie.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Budd will have their son Paul, his wife Idell and granddaughters Carla and Nikki as their Thanksgiving guests.

To Watsonville Mr. and Mrs. Bob Read and their children Tess and Timon will go for Thanksgiving dinner as guests of Mrs. Read's brother Hubert Wyckoff.

The Mark Raggett and Adrian Bermett families will have dinner together at the Raggett home on Thanksgiving Day.

Here from Orlando, Florida for Thanksgiving are Dr. and Mrs. Paul Schallert, parents of Mrs. Richard Lofton. With the Lofton family they will be sitting round the dinner table of Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams of Carmel Highlands.

Mrs. Susan Porter of Big Sur, her daughter Mrs. Valentine Miller and the Miller children, Alison, Andrew and Janie will be Thanksgiving dinner guests of Mrs. Jesse Lynch Williams and her son Lyn. Also seated at Mrs. Williams' table will be her other sons, Laidlaw and Henry, and her grandchildren, Boz and Lacy Williams and Karen Bryant, Karen's husband, Ed, and toddler Jessica Bryant. On the way home from Europe are Mrs. Laidlaw Williams and Mrs. Henry Williams due home in Carmel in two weeks.

The Milton Mayers will not need any extra leaves in their table this Thanksgiving as only Mrs. Mayer's son Dicken Scully will be in Carmel. Her older son, Rock, is attending The Meeting School in West Ringe, New Hampshire. Mr. Mayer's daughter, Julie, who graduated from Carleton College in Minnesota in June, is now a member of the editorial staff of Mademoiselle magazine in New York City and his younger daughter, Amanda, is a freshman at St. John's College in Annapolis, Maryland.

Among guests having Thanksgiving dinner at Del Monte Lodge tomorrow evening are Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Abernethy, General and Mrs. C. B. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Becker and Mrs. William Crowley who will be seated at the same table.

Four generations will be represented around the dinner table of Admiral and Mrs. L. J. Hudson of Point Lobos on Thanksgiving Day as Admiral Hudson's mother, Mrs. Guy Collins of Woodstown, New Jersey is visiting her son. Third generation members of the family will be the Hudson's sons Allen, Thomson and John, the first two will bring their wives with them and the fourth generation made up of the Allen Hudson's five children and the Thomson Jay Hudson's three. David Hudson and his wife Sabra of San Rafael added a tenth member to the fourth generation on Thanksgiving Eve with the birth of their second child in Marin Hospital, a sister for their son Matthew.

Senator and Mrs. Fred Farr and their three children, Sam, Francesca and Nancy left today for Martinez and will spend tonight there with Senator George Miller. Tomorrow the Farris and the Millers will have Thanksgiving dinner together in Occidental on the Russian River. Friday the Farris come back to Carmel and on Saturday evening Senator and Mrs. Farr will be in King City to attend the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hickey.

Mr. and Mrs. George Willox are celebrating Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Colburn and their four children at the Colburn home.

Mayor and Mrs. John Chitwood are particularly happy that their son, John Jr., will be at their dinner table tomorrow as last year he was in Europe. Also having dinner at the Chitwoods are Mrs. Chitwood's mother Mrs. Peter Taylor and Richard Southard, trainee at Fort Ord.

Mrs. Charles A. Trumbly has invited Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Lin to Thanksgiving dinner with her. Mary Lin is a foreign exchange student from Hong Kong at Monterey Peninsula College and will be eating her first American Thanksgiving dinner. Mrs. Trumbly's other guests will be pianist John Browning and Clifford Bartlett, pianist for the Soldiers' Chorus, both from Fort Ord, and her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Richard Trumbly from Coalinga. Mr. Trumbly teaches literature in the high school and junior college in the Southern California town.

Round the Harlan Ware's table tomorrow will be their daughter Joy, home for the holiday from Redlands University; Mr. Ware's cousin, Mrs. Fred Baarsch, visiting from Deerfield, Illinois; Mr. Ware's father, Will Ware; and their daughter Ciji.

The Frank Lloyds and daughters Lucinda and Mardi will drive to Palo Alto to eat dinner with the Lloyds' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Baylis, and their grandchildren Owen and Lloyd Baylis and their law school student son Skip from the University of California in Berkeley.

Dagmar Ludwig, Carmel High School's foreign exchange student from Germany will learn how Americans observe Thanksgiving day with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bissantz, with whom she is living during her year here. The day before Thanksgiving the Bissantzes are taking her and Mrs. Bissantz' daughter, Joan Willicombe, to San Francisco to see the Royal Ballet in Sylvia. They will return to Carmel for their Thanksgiving dinner.

Also eating an American Thanksgiving dinner for the first time will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tomka and their son Charles Jr. who escaped from Hungary and came to live in Carmel this spring, sponsored by All Saints' Episcopal Parish. They will give thanks with the Rector, the Reverend Angus Dun Jr., Mrs. Dun and Terry, John, Karen and Beth Dun.

Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, pastor of the Church of the Wayfarer, will drive to San Jose for dinner with his mother, Mrs. Robert B. Gray. Going with him will be Mrs. Gray and Stephen and Stanton Gray and Mrs. Gray's parents, the Reverend and Mrs. Charles H. Burrill. Also at the San Jose Thanksgiving dinner will be Dr. Gray's sister, Miss Berta Gray from Burlingame, and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson and their three children from San Diego. The Johnsons will come to Carmel afterwards to be weekend guests of the Grays.

Mrs. Marie Short and Jake Kenny, with Mr. and Mrs. Neil Weston and their children Mark and Jana, are driving to Palo Alto to have dinner with Mrs. Short's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jeffreys and the Jeffreys, son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Page and their children.

Dorothy Stephenson who has been Mrs. Short's Thanksgiving Day dinner guest for many years will be absent from the party as she is a patient in the Peninsula Community Hospital, recovering from an operation.

Rowes Come And Go

James Rowe was one of 2300 retail store executives and buyers to attend the West Coast Spring Shoe Show held at Los Angeles last week. Jim hurried back to Carmel to play some golf at Pebble Beach over the Thanksgiving holiday. This year's wholesalers' shoe preview brought buyers from all sectors of the western United States, Canada, Hawaii, and even from the Philippine Islands and Japan.

No sooner had Jim returned to his family at Pebble Beach than Lorene Rowe, his wife, boarded a plane for a flying trip of her own, also to Los Angeles. There Mrs. Rowe will spend a few days with her and Jim's old friends, the Richard Watsons, who recently purchased property in Pebble Beach, and soon will commence construction of a new home here.

TAX PAYERS ASSN. OFFICERS

Meeting Monday night the Carmel Tax Payers Association elected officers for the coming year: Enos Fouratt, president; Dudley Swim, vice-president; Gunnar Norberg, secretary-treasurer.

Ferrante Announces Incorporation Of Bach Festival

The Bach Festival is in the process of being incorporated Attorney Peter Ferrante told Carmel school board members last night. This action means Carmel is assured that the festival will continue "in perpetuity". Mr. Ferrante stated he was incorporating the event "gratis as I feel it is a public service."

He made the announcement when asking the board that Miss Dene Denny be charged $420 for the use of Sunset Auditorium last summer, as she had in previous years. She received a bill for $1050 in accordance with a new rental schedule.

The board granted Mr. Ferrante's request in view of the fact that they were going to consider the matter of Sunset auditorium rentals again in the near future with the desire to re-adjust charges to groups having paid employees.

Only Bach Festival paid employees are the conductor, administrative assistants to Miss Denny, and auditorium stage hands, Mr. Ferrante emphasized.

Festival profits this year were $956.58, according to the Festival financial report Mr. Ferrante presented to the board. Of this profit $496 were donations from friends. The profit was reckoned with the auditorium rent at $420.

CHURCHESCHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How spiritual understanding of God, divine Mind, gives man dominion over fear, sorrow, and bondage of every kind, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, all as Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon.

Selections to be read from the Bible include the following from I Chronicles (29:11): "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the Kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (103:25): "The truths of immortal Mind sustain man, and they annihilate the fables of mortal mind, whose flimsy and gaudy pretensions, like silly moths, singe their own wings and fall into dust."

policeman. (Carl Sherman) were handsomely satisfactory.

Rhoda Johnson's costumes in the play and the following Olio, are a triumph.

Charles Thomas was responsible for the period sets.

In the Olio, MC-ed by Alex Olivetti, those deserving special mention as applause winners were Madeline Hicks and Carolyn Elstob as Mrs. Gallagher and Mrs. Shean. The two bumptious gals of the New York Bowery sang from the facile pen of Dene Denny. Patricia Ramsey's dancing and pantomime in Girl on a Tight-rope, is an achievement in artistry and technique. Salvos of applause followed Frankie and Johnnie with Larry Pack as the narrator; Patricia Ramsey as Frankie, Alex Olivetti as Johnnie, and the Gold Coast ensemble. A pat to Rhea Diveley for her expert direction of this old masterpiece.

The choruses throughout were vivacious, costumes beautiful and fresh. Plus the entire cast of the play, appearing in the Olio were Misses LaVerne Seeman, (Gold Coast Librarian,) Dolores Scollat, Bobbie Ramsey, Brenda Billings and Gilda Dayton; also William Hitchcock, Ernest Whitlock and Ronald Weiss.

There will be no Friday night performance this week, but there will be Saturday night, and week-ends thereafter with the exception of December 20 and 21.

Kippy Meets Her Readers

Kippy Stuart is so busy with gardens and writing about gardening that Carmelites are apt to forget that she is the author of a series of children's books about her life in the Philippines, when she was a child. Not so in Salinas, Kippy was invited to a Meet the Author gathering on Sunday afternoon in the Fremont School as part of the Salinas school's P.T.A. unit's second annual Book Fair. "A good time was had by all," is Kippy's report on the affair where she met and talked to the young readers of her Piang books and their parents "as a real, honest to goodness author."

Carmel Foundation Notes

On Tuesday a new exhibition will open at The Carmel Foundation Town House. In the tradition of the past several years this will be a showing by members and friends of the foundation of pictures, sculpture, or other art which in some way is especially appropriate to the Christmas season, either from the religious or holiday or seasonal point of view.

On Wednesday afternoon Charles Thomas, Carmel dramatic director and teacher, will give a program at Town House beginning at 3:00 o'clock. Following the program tea will be served.

Royal Ballet Members Visit

Dudley and Joanne Nix spent Tuesday showing Carmel to a group of Royal Ballet Dancers, vacationing from performances at the Opera House in San Francisco, among whom were Desmond Doyle, Brenda Taylor, Richard Farley and David Shields. The visitors took movie and still shots of Carmel's coastal scenery, shopped in the business district, and expressed interest in the forthcoming Christmas ballet to be given by Mrs. Nix' pupils. After the sightseeing the Nixes served a buffet dinner to the English dancers when the menu consisted mainly of food only to be found in California.

City Council Polite But Dubious Of Ruster Report On Annexation

tion within the city.

The procedure, which also calls for public hearings and publication of legal notices, would take about a year.

Mayor John Chitwood commented, "This is an interesting and illuminating report. The Council is aware we are almost homogeneous. We are under no urgent need to annex. We are not seeking this but are willing to give it study. This report calls for minimal services. People of Carmel must know of the additional services and costs that will develop. We don't want anybody to think this is a cheap, fire sale way of living."

Vice-Mayor Carl Patnude pointed out that the proposal of increasing the fire department for Greater Carmel by three firemen and an additional fire engine would benefit the city "if we didn't go across the highway." The study includes Carmel Hills, South Carmel Hills, south portion of Rio Vista Tract, as well as Carmel Woods, Hatton Fields Ranch, Mission Fields, Walker Tract, Mission Tract and Carmel Point.

"If you go across the highway, because of the additional area you'll have to protect, you'll lose what you gain."

He pointed out that there is no provision for municipal structures in the study. The fire house has not the space for three more paid firemen. "We want their beds to cool off before the next man gets into them."

The city is hard put to it now to find space for two lockers in the chief's office at the police station. The four more policemen suggested in the report "would push us out of the police station."

"The street department is in the same situation."

The study provides for an additional patrol car and four more policemen; another truck for the street department and two more workers.

Councilman Allen Knight, who is police commissioner, said that an extra patrol car would be needed, because of the long area to cover. He doubted that two men and an extra truck would take care of the street department. "The street department has a pretty good load on it as it is."

Both Mr. Knight and Mr. Patnude questioned some of the estimated additional revenue. The increase in fines Mr. Patnude doubted, and on the subject of estimated revenue from sales tax from proposed shopping centers at the Valley mouth, Mr. Knight asked, "Suppose they decide to remain out?"

Councilman Everett May spoke of the advantages of the Carmel Planning Commission's getting control over unimproved land, but wondered if the area that may be annexed is not almost entirely built up.

George Willox, Carmel Planning Commission chairman, said there was need of local control over subdivisions. "When we go to the county about them, the county tells us to go home."

City Clerk Lawrence Rose said that there would be an increase of 15 to 25 percent in costs of our city services. "But are they will-

Planning Board Wins Long Battle For Landscape Areas

enact the ordinances of their choice December 4. All indications are that they will be No. 1 and No. 2, in line with the recommendations of the planning commission.

The three way discussion showed agreement on the two percent setback ordinance, and an acceptance of the concept that the planning commission should be given power in the interim ordinance to demand open space for landscaping. The point of disagreement was, how much? The hearing centered around the planning commission's resolution setting maximum open space requirements of 20 percent of the site.

Thomas Perry, attorney for the C-2 property owners association, said that 10 percent maximum was more realistic than the planning commission's 20 percent.

Builder James B. Pruitt pointed out that four of the new motels in Carmel have less than 20 percent of the site area devoted to planted open space area: The Village Inn, New Inn, and Tally-Ho have 15 percent; the Wayside Inn, 10 percent.

He presented the figures "to give you a visual example." Each should be judged on its own merits, he said. Sidewalks and swimming pools and patios should be counted as part of the open space requirement. Walkways should be considered part of the landscaping: "Say you have a garden planting like the city library, with a walk or stepping stones. The walk should be counted. The fact that a patio is paved doesn't mean it is not a beauty spot. It should be considered as part of the open space requirement."

Francis Whitaker, a C-2 property owner, said he thought the planning commission should think in terms of "effective" landscaping rather than "adequate." Often a smaller, concentrated planting area is more effective than scattered planting, though actually more area is involved in the latter. Ten percent should be the maximum.

ing to accept the same level of service as the city has now? If not, the cost will be even greater."

mum requirement, he thought.

Planning Commissioner Fred Keeble and Councilman Everett May said that with the 100 percent requirement for off street parking producing more blacktop, the need was for a greater percentage of site to be set aside for landscaping.

Twenty percent should be the minimum rather than the maximum, Frederick E. McNulty said.

J. O. Handley thought that if the landscape requirements are too high, the property owners would not be able to maintain them properly. He spoke of the Pine Inn landscaping. "They now have two percent. If they had ten times that much could they keep it up so well? Twenty percent is ridiculous. Some of the nicest motels here have six and seven percent."

Architect Will Shaw said that Carmel is fast losing its open space feeling and urged the council to back up the planning commission. "If there is a 20 percent maximum, architects will try to shoot for it."

Amelia Carter said she is an old time resident here, and she resented the motels with maximum structure and blacktop site coverage. "It is not necessary to have that sort of development here."

Planning Commissioner Keeble said that he had noticed in the plans coming before the planning commission a "tendency toward new development with more and more units and less and less thinking for aesthetics. We could have an epidemic of one type of development."

This tendency toward many and small units for over-night tourists rather than the apartment motel was also pointed out by Building Inspector Floyd Adams.

Councilman Allen Knight said he was in favor of a compromise between C-2 property owners' 10 percent and Planning Commission's 20 percent maximum. Mayor John Chitwood said he thought over 10 percent is excessive. Councilman Carl Patnude suggested a compromise at 15 percent. Councilman May thought the planning commission needed "range in which to work" and said they should have at least 15 percent maximum. Councilman Jim Buffington said it should be definitely set at 10 or 15 so "when a man buys a piece of property he can know what he can do with it."

The council agreed on the 15 percent and instructed the planning commission to modify their resolution Monday to that effect and present it at the regular council meeting Wednesday, when the council will hold second reading and enactment of the ordinances. At this Wednesday meeting there will still be an opportunity for property owners to protest, if they wish.

School Annexation Means No Increase Cost To Carmel

is invited to this meeting.

School board members, faced with the important annexation decision at their December 17 meeting, last night asked that persons in the Carmel district tell individual board members what they think about annexation. In this way the school board hopes to get some expression from the public before the December meeting.

Superintendent Mitchell told the board last night that, as of yesterday, 200 signatures for annexation were on the Carmel district annexation petition and 500 on the one circulating in Tularcitos district.

"This is close to the necessary majority," he stated.

With annexation of the Valley districts more than a possibility, Mitchell pointed out necessary buildings in the combined district could be built for use when schools open in the fall. Financing of this construction would be by a bond issue for which the Valley districts would be equally financially responsible with the Carmel district, and could vote in the bond election in April.

Operational expenses in the combined district would be met by an override tax, the Valley again sharing in the vote and taxation.

The tight annexation schedule is as follows: petitions now circulating in the Valley districts must be presented to County Superintendent of Schools Miss Gladys Stone, by December 5. She decides if the necessary majority of signatures has been obtained before asking Carmel School Board to decide if they want to annex Carmel and Tularcitos districts on December 17. If Carmel wants annexation, an election will be set for January 14 in the Valley districts. If the election favors annexation, the County Board of Supervisors will issue a certificate of annexation on January 27.
